Wireless Remote Camera Kit

The High Performance Wireless Camera Kit from S4 Tech provides a rugged portable remote monitoring capability. The camera unit may be worn on the body of personnel or used in standalone mode with the included mounting hardware. The high performance wireless system allows a user to monitor activity inside a building from several hundred feet outside. The system has been optimized for power gain, battery operation, portability, interference mitigation, and low light conditions. All necessary components for the kit including spare batteries and chargers are packaged in a single briefcase-sized Pelican case for easy transport.

A photocell based infrared illumination system provides covert lighting as needed in low light conditions such as inside a dark building. Batteries are easily exchanged with spares, and a battery charger insures backup batteries are always available. The system may also run off 110/220VAC or 12VDC power if it is available. Radio frequencies and power levels have been optimized to penetrate non-metal buildings while providing long battery life and portability. Receiver audio/video outputs are provided for recording.
